

Restorative Wellness Solutions, LLC

Disclaimer

Restorative Wellness Solutions, LLC is an educational entity, designed to further the education of existing practitioners. Restorative Wellness Solutions, LLC is a nutritional education program that does not constitute legal or medical advice. The educational materials provided have not been approved by the FDA and we do not claim to treat or diagnose disease of any sort. This program is strictly designed to provide tools that will assist health professionals in evaluating their clients or patients solely for the purpose of assessing metabolic imbalances and their nutritional status. Restorative Wellness Solutions, LLC materials are copyrighted and I agree that using any written materials found in the program without express permission from the owners is prohibited. I agree that I am responsible for the cost of the program. This financial obligation is binding and is not subject to my completion of the program. This course does not guarantee financial gain.